"It is rare that we recognize the individual medical practices and physicians," said Michael Tetreault, Editor-In-Chief of Concierge Medicine Today. " However, we feel it is very important to acknowledge certain medical practices and physicians that reflect and represent the care, value and benefits of this industry. We would like to congratulate each and every one of the physicians on this list as well as their staff and the many visioneering physicians not mentioned that are working tirelessly across the Globe to deliver exceptional healthcare to patients. We, at Concierge Medicine Today, are happy that physicians are having such great success with their business model and look forward to seeing it grow in the months and years ahead."
